The first remonstrance against granting a license to a wholesale liquor store adjoining the First Presbyterian church property was filed Monday by the paster of that congregation. It is somewhat generally believed that a law exists in this state prohibiting the sale of liquor within a specified distance of a place of worship or a school house, but as a matter of fact no such law is on the statute books of Pennsylvania, although Massachusetts, New similar import. The matter rests entirely in the discretion of the judges.

If General Manager Silliman's quiet little comment, so cleverly made the other night with regard to the labeling of our city streets should result in working such a reform he will deserve a vote of thanks from the public and a few minutes' cessation from the growls of growlers, who would growl about the street car system if it were perfection itself, and free besides.

M. Alexandre Guilmant in the March Forum, says: "Organ music reached its climax with Bach: it may, perhaps, be said that all music did. At any rate, one thing is certain: viz., if there has been any progress in music since the day of Bach, it has been due to him. Bach's music is polyphonic; and polyphony is true music. To its foundation upon this school is due the fact that there has been no decadence in music in Germany.

There has been no advance in pelyphony since the days of Bach. Such advance as has been made has been in originality and boldness of modulation.

* * For pure organ music, Bach still is, and probably will always remain, the greatest of all composers. Even with all the modern mechanical appliances that have been attached to the organ, his works are still very difficult—perhaps the most difficult of organ compositions. He must have been as great an organist as he was a composer. That he should have been able to play upon the organ of his day, works so exacting in tech-nique as his own, is simply marvellous. * * * It is one of the phenomena of musical history that, while orchestral operatic, and other branches of music were in their infancy in Bach's day, and have developed since then. Bach brought organ music to its climax. He was not the small source whence flowed a rivu-let which, in time, was to expand into

"HUGHEY" JENNINGS IS ON A STRIKE

Says He Will Not Go South Unless He Gets a " Raise."

LENGTHENED SCHEDULE THE CAUSE

Jennings, Kelly and Keeler Have Agreed Together to Hold Out for an Increase in Salary -- Will Have to Play 154 Games This Season as Against 132 Last Season -- Want Increase of Pay for Increase of Labor.

When the Baltimore team goes south, next week, it will not have our "Hughey" with it-unless Manager Ned Hanlon changes his mind.

It isn't that Manager Hanlon does not want Jennings, but he does not want to pay the increase in salary demanded by the champion shortstop. The spirit that the Moosic boy im bibed in the old slate-picking days when there were "turn-outs" on account of an unpopular breaker boss or ome other such imposition has not been lost to the "great and only."

Hughey is at the head of an organized strike. During the coming season the National league players will be obliged to play 154 games as against 132 last year, and will be expected to do the extra work entailed without extra compensation. There has been considerable discontent evident among the players on account of this alleged injustice and threats of opposition have been frequently heard.

ACTIVE OPPOSITION.

It is only in the Baltimore club, howver, that active opposition has shown itself. Willie Keeler, Joe Kelly and Jennings have pledged themselves to each other to hold out against joining the team unless they receive an in-crease in salary commensurate with he increase in the number of games. They have stated the case to Manager Hanlon and are awaiting an answer to heir ultimatum. If he does not accede to their demands they will not play with the team. They will prepare for he season by going south for practice, but they will not go as part of the Orioles. Just what they will do in case their differences are not settled, is not known. It is not likely, however, that any of them will be long looking for a Jennings, in conversation with a Tribune reporter yesterday, said that a number of other Oriole players have expressed their intention to go south with the team if they are not granted an increase in salary. "The Baltimore Base Ball association has treated us fairly all along," said Mr. Jennings, but I think the association will admit that the players have treated them pretty fairly too. They are in business for money and we are in it for a like reason.

A BUSINESS MATTER.

"It is a purely business matter all through and should not be viewed in any other light. By reason of the in-creased number of games the association's income will be increased. Is it fair for them to expect all the benefits that will be derived from our increased labors? I do not think so and will not be argued into thinking so.

"The demands we made are comparatively mild. If they want us they will have to pay our price. If they do not fear at all that it will be sa'd that our demands are unreasonable

Jennings can secure a good salaried position as coach of the Cornell team and may accept it during the early part of the practice sesson, even though reengaged by the Baltimores.

DAMAGES FOR MRS. KOLATA.

Alderman Bailey Gives Judgment in Her Favor in the Trespass Suit.

Judgment was rendered yesterday by Alderman Bailey in favor of Mrs. Kolata in the trespass suit brought by her against Adolph Miller, Mrs. Kolata had two silk dresses which had been the property of Mrs. Wilhelm, now deceased, and when Mr. Miller, as executor of the estate, took charge of affairs, he took the dresses. Mrs. Kolata then sued for $100 damages.

At the hearing of the cast last Friday Attorney Scragg argued that the goods were the property of the estate. The alderman maintained that Mrs. Kolata secured possession of the goods previous to the death of Mrs. Wilhelm by removing them from one room to another. Mr. Miller has taken an appeal to common pleas court.

Bartley Boxing Contest. The largest crowd that ever wit nessed a boxing contest given by the American Sporting club will see out Monday night between Judge and Bartley at Music Hall. The attendance will be largely swelled by a big delegation of Bartley's friends from Bingnamton and vicinity.

Bartley's brother, who is also his manager, has written un official of the American club a letter which contains the following: "There will be a hundred from Susquehanna, Frank's native town; as many from Great Bend and Hallstead, and another hundred or more from Binghamton. You can see Frank will have a proper number to root for him." The Binghamton papers substantiate this by saying that pecial arrangements have been made to transport this big crowd here and back again.

There are other weighty reasons for he widespread interest the boxing programme has aroused. One is the gagement of Sam Austin, of New York, for referee. No official of such national reputation has ever been seen in Scranton in the capacity of referee.

No little notice has been created by the preliminary of six rounds to be decided between Toby Gardner and Joe Allen. These youngsters have been carefully training for the meeting. They are bound to give a good exhibition and each will have a large following present.

res, and recently purchased from the Flynn estate. The building will be four stories in heighth, forty feet in width and will extend back to the "L" of the Mears building. It has been designed par tlcularly as a bank building and will be a model and thoroughly modern structure in every respect. The front is to be of stone, but the style is not definitely settled upon. A style was adopted, but yesterday it was decided to make a change and the plans were called in for this purpose. The alteration means an even more handsome front than was first contemplated, The first floor, wherein the banking company will be housed, is to be twenty-one feet from floor to ceiling. The clerks will be accommodated in a gallery extending about the sides and rear of the room half-way between the floor and ceiling. The two upper floors will be fitted up for club rooms or offices. The building is being constructed by Mr. Watres and is to become the property of the banking company upon its completion. The Scranton Savings Bank and Trust company was organ-ized in 1873 and has since that time been located in its present quarters, 428 Lackawanna avenue. Hon. L. A. Watres is its president; O. S.
